SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

To facilitate receiving Social Security benefits, you will need the following when you contact your Social Security office:

- 1. Social Security Number
- 2. Marriage License
- 3 . Children's Birth Certificates
- 4. W2 for the previous two years
- 5. Proof of widow(er)'s age if 62 years or older
- 6 . Certified Copy of Death Certificate

A lump sum payment may be made when an eligible person dies. This payment can only be made if there is an eligible surviving widow, widower or entitled child . Also, survivor's checks may go to certain members of a worker's family.

An application for the lump sum death payment usually must be made within two years after the worker's death. Don't delay applying because you don't have all the proof of information . The people in the Social Security office will tell you about other proof of information that can be used when you apply.

It is a good idea to check your record every three years to make sure that earnings are being correctly reported to your record.

ESTATE INFORMATION

Importance of a Will

If you die without a will, state law and the courts may determine who will administer your estate, handle financial matters and act as guardian for your minor children . With a will, you decide .

In some instances, joint ownership of property may not be a good substitute for a carefully drafted will . For instance, if you and your spouse died as a result of a common accident, before the survivor had an opportunity to execute a proper will, your property would pass to whom/what according to state law .

The law is very exacting in its requirements with respect to the publications, signing and witnessing of wills . It is recommended that this matter be handled by a competent attorney . Homemade wills may not stand up in court .

You should review your will every few years, particularly if you have moved or your family situation has changed since you last executed a will . State laws vary as to formal requirements and as to the rights of children and grandchildren born after a will was executed .

When you realize how much is at stake — the well-being of your entire family and the protection of your property — we believe that you will find that the attorney's fee for drafting your will and planning your estate is a worthwhile investment .
