FAITH
DEMOCRACY &
MINISTRY LIVING WITH COURAGE AND
PURPOSE IN A DECISIVE MOMENT

Bishop Sutton is the senior pastor of the Chautauqua Institution, assistant bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington and formerly the bishop of the Diocese of Maryland and canon pastor of Washington National Cathedral. He is a frequent speaker at conferences focused on spirituality, nonviolence, and social justice, and he has led numerous missions focused on peace and reconciliation to South Africa, Israel, and the Holy Land. Bishop Sutton has been named by the Center for American Progress as one of "Fourteen Faith Leaders to Watch" for his faith-led efforts to promote nonviolent solutions to conflicts.
